150 Years Ago -- 1812

Josiah Holmes, Sr., and Benjamin Barstow formed a partnership to run a shipyard under the name of Barstow and Holmes. This yard, situated on the site of Shipyard Park, later became the Holmes shipyard, one of the most famous for the building of whaleships. The partnership immediately ran into heavy sledding, for war with England broke out and no vessels of any description were built in Mattapoisett the following year.

Rochester,
July 29, 1812

100 Years Ago -- 1862

During the Civil War there was no universal draft of men into the armed services as is now the custom. Rather, the Federal government allotted each town a quota to be filled. Consequently, if enlistments did not make up the required number, the town officials had to take some action.

Mattapoisett's quota was set at 150, but by summer of 1862 this quota still had not been met (partly because so many men from town had enlisted in the navy--naturally--and for some unknown reason, men in the navy did not count towards the quota until 1864.)

So the town adopted the system of paying a bounty to each man who would volunteer to enlist in the army. July 18, 1862, saw the first such action when a bounty of $100.00 was voted to those who would enlist for three years. To finance this operation, the town treasurer was authorized to borrow money, the principal and interest to be repaid over a period of ten years.

August 7, it was voted to increase the bounty by $50.00 with an additional $50.00 for those who would enlist within a week. Evidently there was no great rush, for on August 30, it was voted to pay a bounty of $125.00 to anyone who would volunteer for only nine months service, just to fill the town's quota. December 15, the bounty was set at $125.00 for a regular three year enlistment.

In the meantime, many Mattapoisett men had seen plenty of combat action in the first year and a half of the war, and some had been wounded and a few killed.

FINALLY-ACTION ON CUBA

In a decision which has been too long delayed President Kennedy has put forth a decisive United States stand on the Soviet military build up in Cuba. This action will have the wholehearted approval and support of every thinking American in the country. The long period of inaction and indecision served only to create a vacuum. The Communist Russians, who are always quick to seize every advantage, filled that vacuum with a swift and deadly military build up. In his speech on Monday night, the President spoke of Soviet assurances to him that the build up in Cuba was for defensive purposes only. At the time that he was accepting this explanation, he may well have asked, "Who is the enemy?" Senators Dodd, Keating and others have been aware for a considerable period of time and have been warning of the grave danger of this missile build up in Cuba. The President said that he was lied to again when he was told by the Communists that they had no need for rocket bases outside of the limits of their own Soviet Union. The only real surprise here is the apparent acceptance of these Soviet lies. The entire Communist system is based on an ideology which is a lie, and the leaders of this country have no moral code on which to base the truth. They respect only strength. This fact has been demonstrated and proven time and again.

President Kennedy has now laid down some firm and tough steps starting with the sealing off of arms to Cuba by military blockade. If other more drastic action is not to follow, the rocket bases on Cuba now completed or in the building stage must be dismantled. Speaking directly to the people of Cuba, he gave them assurance that the United States wants only to see them free from the domination of a foreign power. He told them that the rocket bases now on Cuban soil are not there for the advantage of the Cuban people and that they are but pawns in Communist power grab. These words and the truth of them must be obvious to all of the oppressed people of Cuba. How they must have rung, however, in the ears of people who have been seemingly abandoned by the United States for such a long, hopeless period of time. The people of Cuba now have hope to live on. The people of the United States can once again believe that the country stands for the ideals it professes to defend. We can start to regain confidence in the leadership of this nation to take the steps which must be taken if this country is to be secure. The President has had a hard decision to make in the face of his grave responsibility. All of our people will back him up. It is late but, this time, not too late.

There was a discussion of the #1 question on the referendum regarding graduated income tax. The group was not in favor of the referndum.

UNLIMITED INCOME TAX MASSACHUSETTS?

It is of interesting coincidence that the #1 problem of Massachusetts, namely excessive taxation, should also be the #1 question on the ballot. The graduated income tax question is a vital one to every taxpayer in the State. In effect it asks for unlimited power to impose State income taxes. It would do away with the provision of the Constitution of the Commonwealth which has restricted the power of the Legislature to impose State income taxes for the last 47 years. This State of Massachusetts already has a sizeable income tax as well as the highest property tax in the nation. Business pays the highest corporation taxes.

To vote for question #1 is to give the Legislature of Massachusetts power to impose taxes of income such as the Federal government now enjoys. It is interesting to note that question #1 is a proposal which originated in the Legislature.

Voters should vote NO on question #1 on the ballot, for this is an attempt by the Legislature to gain an immense new power to increase taxes and so continue to avoid its responsibility to work out an efficient and long range tax reform. We simply cannot afford in tax burdened Massachusetts to hand the Legislature an unlimited blank check.

Question #1 should be overwhelmingly rejected by the taxpaying voters of Massachusetts.

PERRY CHALLENGES DEMOCRATIC TICKET

State Representative Francis W. Perry, the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor, has challenged the top of the State Democratic ticket to a free-swinging televised debate.

The Duxbury lawmaker, who gained his legislative prominence through his attacks on corruption in government, offered to foot half the TV bill if the Democratic leadership is willing to face him on the public forum.

He suggested as the topic, "What I as Lieutenant Governor can and do propose to do to fight corruption in government."

The invitation to debate was directed to Perry's immediate opposition, Attorney Francis X. Bellotti, the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor. In a letter to his opponent, Perry challenged the Democratic candidate to bring into the debate his team of Endicott Peabody, the Democratic candidate for Governor, and Attorney Francis E. Kelley, that party's candidate for Attorney General.

Perry wrote that he himself has received the assurance of Governor Volpe of continued support in his efforts to rout out corruption and has received similar assurance from Edward Brooke, the GOP candidate for Attorney General.

Perry also said he has noted that Bellotti, in his public statements, has not addressed himself to the specific duties of the office he seeks "but rather prefers to discuss broad personal philosophical aspects."

"However", said Perry, "we seek a particular office at a time when a significant public issue, corruption, cries out for a solution." He said this debate could bring before the voters "our relative abilities to cope with the duties of the office of Lieutenant Governor."

In another section of his letter to his opposition, the Duxbury legislator said, "You might agree that you would have the advantage since you have never served in public office and have no record with which I can agree, disagree, or attack. However, we could discuss your significant previous political activity, particularly your interest on behalf of the most recently defeated candidate for Governor of your party, Joseph Ward."

Perry commented that he lacked the campaign funds available to Bellotti but said he would be willing to shoulder one half the cost of a half-hour television debate because the objective of such a meeting would be in the public interest. He suggested the use of a moderator to preserve dignity and decorum but said it should be a more free-swinging debate than those seen so far in the campaign.

Perry also suggested that the three-to-one debate would also afford Gubernatorial candidate Endicott Peabody the exposure he has been seeking to gain from such a public debate. By including the Democratic candidate for Attorney General "we can give greater breadth and depth to a full discussion of the issue of corruption," said Perry.
